family, and society. Knowledge with its recent achievements; Information with its challenges to the spirit, to faith, and to doctrine; Globalization with its effect on the rising generations and its western culture that is foreign to Christianity and spirituality; and Freedom which is often misinterpreted so that it is transformed into what can almost be described as slavery, are a few of these issues.

But the Christ of the resurrection is a mighty God who emerged from the grave to live in our hearts and He gives us power, understanding, and the ability to discriminate between these various issues. More significantly, He grants us the ability to hold on to all that is good and reject all that is harmful.

May the coming year be full of the blessings of the Gospel and of the fruits of the Spirit.
